Election/Restriction

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-26 and 30-31, drawn to peptides, classified in class 530, subclass 300.
  - II. Claims 27-29, drawn to methods of preventing the growth of a microbe, classified in class 424, subclass 184.1.

Additionally, Groups I and II are further restricted according to MPEP 803.04, which sets forth that biological molecules with different structures are separate inventions. The examiner typically recites each of the recited separate structures, however in the instant application, such a recitation would be exceedingly large. Consequently, Applicant's are restricted to a single structure including specific substitutions for examination. Note, each recitation for R1 is considered a separate invention, likewise each recitation for R2, R3... are also separate inventions, given that each recited R-Group generates a molecule with a distinct structure. For example, Applicant's in claim 5 recite SEQ ID NO: 1-23, each of these sequences is a separate invention, given that each molecule has a separate sequence and structure. This restriction is equally applicable to claims not reciting a sequence, for instance each of the peptides recited in claim 4 is a separate structure, consequently each of these are also a separate invention.

Applicant's are further requested to identify which of the limitations recited in the generic claims are applicable to the elected structure. These limitations will be examined, however, any limitation which does not correspond to the elected structure will be withdrawn from further consideration.

2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the methods of preventing the growth of microbes has been long practiced with materially different antibiotics such as penicillin.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their separate classification and their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(I).

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Mark Navarro whose telephone number is (703) 306-3225.
